"Mr. Speaker, where was I at?" is a question that the entire Democratic majority in the recent Congress might ask. Neither the Speaker nor any one else could answer the question.

This is the description given of themselves by the employes of the Homestead iron Works. "The employes in the milit of Messrs, Cannau, Phiffs & Co. at Homestead have built there a town, with its homes, its schools and its churches, have for unany years been fuitful co-workers with the company in the business, and have invested thousands of dollars of their savings in the said milits." Just put next to this a description of the Free-trade English iron workers and you will have the difference between Protected and Free-trade laborers. This is the description given of them ives by the employes of the Home-

THE calamity craze sprang into existence as the result of poor crops. It was most prevalent in the Western and Northwestern states. The farmers in these localities Calamity Came. Were straight to were straight to were straight to make for themselves and families homes upon the hunds the Republican party had given them under the provisions of the homestern and pre-emption laws. The failure of each street of the straight tower and lower mutit in their despitation they were willing to believe that the Government, and especially the Republican party, was responsible for the function of the Standards and the responsible for the Standards and the resident was the calamity party. Besson was delibroused of the Standards and the residence, with Scheming politicians took advantage of the Situations and the result was the calamity party. Reason was defitroned, and fanatician reigned supreme. With the year ISO came good crops. Kansas alone redessed over $14.00,000 of mortragage inhebtedness. Nebraska fell in line with nearly as much order, estimated the farmers prosperted. Reason returned, resulting in the gradual deeline of the calamity howl. The present crop prospects for the Western states were never better and with returning prosperity will return the old-time Republican majorities. Reciprocity has made a market in cuta for over a million barriels of American dour every year. In the year 1800 the value of exported hams to Cuta was only $21,500. Under reel-procity, however, in November, 1891, these exports amounted to $40,554. The farmers of the West and Northwest can appreciate these facts, as wheat and pork are the principle things they have to sell.

They were secured principally from the southern and Bloomshury division and in the yards here, and without be lag given an opportunity to go to the homes they were hurried here to await.
